COME TO YOUR SENSES

The War Scare has created a food scare among the housewives of the country. The fear of probably having to do with a little less of the delicacies on our tables has created a buying spree and has resulted in excessive buying and hoarding at this early stage. The law of supply and demand controls prices, and of course the greater the demand the greater the price.

We have been through two world wars and we have yet to see anyone in this country suffer from the effects of hunger due to scarcity of food. The President of the United States in his address to the nation Wednesday evening assured the people of this country there was not a scarcity of food, and that there was plenty for everyone. He stated that a continuance of buying and hoarding would bring about controls, and rightfully so.

The people of the United States despise regimentation and of course controls, it cannot be denied, is regimentation, out nevertheless, the situation if it should grow more critical will have to be met. As and when it happens we can lay the blame at our own feet.

If we are headed into an all out war, our patriotism should prompt us not to hoard. We should be willing to snare with our neighbors, and, too, we should realize that in the event of war, and it tood items become scarce, the government would propably confiscate the necessities of are in order to assure an equal distribution among its peo-

Come to your senses and quit this foolish buying. You are only driving the prices of commodities to a new high, and punishing yourself and your neighbors financially.

NOT THAT KIND OF MONEY

The newsman was crying some headline about the war in Korea. A man stepped up, bought a paper, and talked to him a bit. When he moved away the newsman was redfaced from anger and disgust.

"He said he was glad the war had started," the newsman explained. "He said now he could get a good job, take it easy, and make a lot of money . . . Me, I don't want that kind of money!"

I look across the room at one of my boys in my family, who has just exclaimed somewhat bitterly: "They might have given us a little time for living." He is a likely prospect for the draft in a few months if this fighting keeps up. He is taller than I am now, but it seems such a short time ago that I stood outside the door or the hospital room and heard his first wailing cry. He was such a tat, round, happy baby. As he grew up, he always had such a zest for life, filled with curiosity about everything about him, enjoying every new experience to the utmost, a friend of every-

I glance over at his mother and see that she feels as I do. but even more keenly since she is the one who gave him life. I am sick inside. If anything happens to that boy, a part of me is gone, a part that is more precious than all the rest. I would gladly give whatever I have left in life for him or for any of the children, that they might have their raising drive, contributions of nickchance.

That is nothing out of the ordinary. Any real parent feels the same way. And there are millions just as heartsick as I am today.

I do not say the fighting could be avoided or that we should pull out of Korea and the rest of Asia and Europe. I see this as a bloody skirmish, as part of the great test that is coming in some shape. Maybe this fighting will fizzle out, though this does not seem likely at the moment. For if the Reds feel that they are ready for the struggle, they will continue to push their catpaws toward the fire, and there will be an extended series of skirmishes. Maybe the test will not be on the battlefield, but in our homes and our lives. For the war of ideals and of faith can be as trying and as decisive as the roar of guns.

If the issue must be met now, we must be prepared to make the sacrifices necessary for victory. But how in in the contest of ideas between our neaven's name anyone can look torward with pleasure to way of life and totalitarianism. accepting the blood money of war effort I cannot understand except that human nature has its blind greed as well as its noble sentiments.

It all makes one receptive to the notion of a complete draft of some kind, one that will take the profit out

There are drawbacks to be sure. The military mind is more likely to think, for example, that contemplative sisters will do more good peeling potatoes or packing cartridges than pouring out heart and soul to God the Creator, begging His mercy upon us poor creatures. Even though the last war proved that good morals are the basis of good morale, there are some who may feel that young men preparing for the priesthood should be carrying a gun instead.

Then too, a complete ordering of life is a huge step toward permanent regimentation of the nation. The promise is made that it is only temporary, but promises are apt t. fade before power; and the aftermath of the fighting may be so serious that rigid control may be necessary to preserve national life.

Nevertheless, there should be some way of safeguarding human rights as much as possible in such a struggle of destruction but at the same time of taking the profit out of killing and being killed. For life cannot be compared to property and life is just as precious to the sharecropper as to the cotton broker. If the small but hot war in Korea spreads into a gigantic struggle, we should have as an effective slogan in our war effort: "We don't want that kind of money!"—Catholic Action of the South—July 13, 1950.

Grusade for Freedom

THE GREAT moral crusade for freedom, based on the spiritual belief in the dignity, worth and accountability of the individual hu-Nations set-up.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, former sector in Germany, General Eisenhower. James A. Farley, Sen. Herbert Lehman and others who have identified themselves with this global movement, have spark-"spiritual airlift" which is expected to carry our message of American friendship and goodwill to men and women everywhere over the most powerful and extensive network of radio power that it is possible to assemble.

The huge freedom bell which was struck at Croyden, England from metals brought from all the free nations of the world, is expected to be hung at Templehof airfield in Berlin, behind the iron curtain, probably October 24, United Nations day.

The bell, weighing 10 tons, bears the inscription: "That this world, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom." As contrasted to the United Nations which does not even open its sessions with prayer, the crusade for freedom and the mer Miss Jacqueline Lott. freedom bell dedication will nave a deep religious significance. World faith and that personal liberty is resident of Kiln.

Millions of Americans are expected to join in this great freedom crusade and plans are underway to publicize it throughout the nation, to have great rallies in major centers throughout the country following an opening rally set for Labor Day in New York. A cavalcade of planes and personnel, perhaps some from the Berlin airlift itself, will visit 30 metropolitan centers throughout the country, bearing a giant replica of the freedem bell. Public rallies will be held in the grassroots towns and smaller cities also. It is the proposal to make cf the freedom bell at Templehof airfield a freedom shrine and enroll as a permanent part of the records the names and addresses of every man, woman and child in the country taking part in the crusade.

Programs Planned

According to present plans, the tober 24 will call simultaneous celeworld. Church bells, city hall bells, school bells, bells everywhere will ring-out throughout Europe and America. While the committee is not planning to conduct a fundels and dimes from school children on up will be accepted to help underwrite the bell and the crusade through the newspapers, radio and television.

Purpose Outlined

In a statement of purposes the Crusade for Freedom looks toward the soul of the world . . . freedom. friendship and faith.

"Our nation is the symbol of these fundamental principles to liberty-loving men and women everywhere. Today these principles are being denounced and reviled. We have suffered seriously set-backs

"In the five years since the United Nations charter proclaimed the determination of all nations to reaffirm in fundamental human rights and in the dignity and worth of the human person we have seen the most highly organized and widespread campaign against human rights and fundamental freedoms that the world has ever known."

"In the conviction that countless citizens throughout our country would welcome the opportunity to participate in such an effort, representatives of all the major groups of American life are joining forces to initiate the crusade for freedom . . . announces an immediate call for enlisted reservists to volunteer for extended active duty for a minimum period of one year or for such longer period as may be required. Reservists will be recalled in their Reserve grades.

The reservists most urgently needed include radar, radio, tank and antiaircraft-artillery mechanics; engineer heavy equipment operators, crytographic technicians; and engineer construction specialists. The preceding specialists are only a portion of the total skills required.

Individuals with dependents must have attained grade E-4 (Cpl) or higher in order to be acceptable and all individuals must meet current physical standards. All enlisted reservists are encouraged to make application for recall through their Reserve unit instructors who are being furnished detailed lists of the exact military occupational specialists needed. A voluntary recall program for a limited number of Reserve officers will be announced shortly. Medical Corps officers of the Re-

Warned of Attack

THOUGH THE state department L has been getting all the brickbats for past Far Eastern failures, the inside story of what happened in Korea makes the diplomats look a lot better than the U.S. military.

Though Secretary of Defense Johnson and General Bradley were in Tokyo just a few days before the Korean attack, they received ho word from General MacArthur that there was any danger.

In fact. MacArthur seemed com pletely obsessed with trouble in Japan and the idea of keeping Formosa. The latter island seems to have a sentimental attachment for MacArthur, perhaps because it was the Jap jumping-off spot for the Philippine invasion.

Not only is Korea only about 30 miles from Japan and completely in MacArthur's military jurisdiction, but millions of dollars are spent annually for counterespionage to see what the prospective enemy is doing. It is exactly for the purpose of preventing surprises such as that which has now occurred in Korea that the U.S. army and central intelligence have been allotted huge budgets since the war-far bigger than that allowed the state depart-

How badly U.S. military chiefs were caught off base is shown by the fact that just before the trouble Undersecretary of Defense Steve Early left for a three-day trip in the Middlewest, while several high officials took a pleasure jaunt on a boat off Norfolk. In fact, Secretary Johnson and General Bradley joined them later.

On the other hand, state depart ment expert Ambassador John J. Muccio came to Washington over a month ago and privately warned that Korea was in danger of attack At first he had hard sledding. The joint chiefs of staff said they had no warning from MacArthur, who is supposed to keep an eye on Korea. However, Ambassador Muccio cited chapter and verse regarding Communist troop concentrations in the north; finally got a shipment of heavy artillery, capable of stopping Soviet tanks.

This artillery was actually on the high seas and due in Korea this week-when suddenly Moscow attacked.

- U.S. counterespionage regarding news of this arms shipment. The fact that heavy artillery to only a few high officials in Washington and Seoul. Obviously, however, the secret leaked to the Combegin before the artillery arrived.

A Korean beauty, the mistress of an American officer in Korea, is under investigation in connection with the leak.

Stubborn Rhee a Problem

One of the U.S.A.'s problems in bolstering Korea was a likable, long lived in exile in Washington, 80-year-old President Syngman Rhee. Rhee came to the United States as a student, studied under professor at Princeton, was so wedding.

Later, as the Jap war lords tightened their grip on Korea, Rhee found it unwise to go home, and set up a government in-exile in Washington. At one time Cordell Hull intervened on his behalf when Rhee wanted to marry an Austrian woman but could not get a passport visa. Learning of this, Secretary Hull told his passport officials to expedite the visa, thus Rhee got After V-J day Syngman Rhee seemed a natural to become president of Korea, and with the help of the U.S. military he was put in office. However, Rhee, then over 80, was too old, too rigid, had lived too long outside his country, was. not familiar with modern Korean problems. Ambassador Muccio has had session after session with the stubborn Rhee, demanding that he a Negro whom he easily defeated. clean up graft, hold elections, and purge the Communists from his government. The latter had caused wholesale desertions from the Korean army, had inspired guerrilla attacks and intermittent uprisings. Finally Rhee agreed to hold electer of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Despite Red attempts to incite revolution and angry speeches, the ham Berry of Keesler Field. U.S. military failed to think there was any danger in Korea. Note-It is interesting that just members of the family, relatives

THE FEPC AGAIN

The Senate wrote finis to the President's controversial FEPC Program for this session on Wednesday of the past week by a vote of 55 to 33. That body refused to anvoke the rule of cloture to .ake up the bill for consideration. While a majority of the Senators (from the North and West) voted for the cloture rule (to cut off debate). Under the rule of the Senate two-thirds of the Senate (64 Senators) must vote for such a rule in order to invoke it. Unlike previous votes there was no debate. This was significant. Majority Leader Lucas, of Illinois, knew that regardless of debate he would lose. He merely brought it up as a further political gesture and in line with the promise that he had made after a similar defeat earlier

It is interesting to note in this connection that of the 33 senators present and voting against the resolution, all were Southerners except six. It is further significant that none of these six were up for re-election this year. and they were all from the West and Northwest where few Negro voters reside.

PUBLIC HEALTH PROGRAM

The House, by an overwhelming vote of 249 to 71 defeated President Truman's Program to set up a Public Health Department with cabinet status. The vote came on one of the President's Reorganization Plans, Number 27, submitted to the Congress under the overall so-called Hoover Plan for reorgasization of the Government. It was generally understood that the President would appoint Oscar R. Ewing, the present head of the Federal Security Agency, to the newly organized Department with cabinet status should the plan have prevailed. This was a part of the so-called Socialized Mtdicine Program and was bitterly opposed by most of the doctors and a good portion of the public. SOUTH CAROLINA ELECTION

The recent South Carolina election was regarded in political circles as of great national interest. It was, on the whole, a signficant election and was watched eagerly throughout the country. At stake were four contested seats in the House, one Senatorial seat, and the Governorship. It was heralded throughout the country as a further test of the President's Fair Deal Program in the South. In Florida and in North Carolina that promunists, with their attack timed to gram had taken resounding defeats within recent weeks. In the Senatorial race former States Rights Presidential candidate J. Strom Thurmond was pitted against Anti-Fair Dealer incumbent, Senator Olin Johnston. While in the Gubernatorial race former Congressman, Senator, Supreme Court Justice, Secretary of State. and "Assistant President" James well-meaning stubborn Korean who F. Byrnes, who in recent years has been a bitter critic of President Truman and his Fair Deal Program, won by a tremendous majority over the field. But in the Senate race Senator Johnston nosclose to Wilson that he attended his ed out Governor Thurmond. No doubt the Fair Deal press and politicos will make much to do over the defeat of Governor Thurmond. But the Fair Deal and the Président were not the issue in this race. In fact, both Senator Johnston and Governor Johnston and Governor Thurmond vied with the another in denouncing the Civil Rights and other phases of the President's Program. Senator Johnston even went so far as to call President Truman a "Blab-ber mouth" from the stump. Two of the House Members, Congressmen Joseph R. Bryson and Mendel Rivers were returned in the first primary, and two Congressmen, James Hare and Hugo Sims, face run-offs. An interesting and significant fact was that Congressman Rivers, from the Charleston area, was opposed by

Lightning Strikes Bourdin Home

The Pass Christian Fire Department answered an alarm Sunday when Lightning struck the Willie Bourdin home on Seal Avenue,

The lightning struck the house, tore part of a television aerial off, knocked the telephone box off the wall, burned up a small radio in the bath room and burned a hole in the bottom of the bath tub. A metal light chain in the bath room disappeared altogether, presumably melted. The blast blew the fuses completely out of the fuse box

Tom Bourdin was playing the piano-organ at the time and received a slight shock. There were visitors at the Bourdin's at the time of the accident, and they were unaware that the house and been hit. Mrs. Shannon Pickich, who lives across the street, saw the smoke coming from the attic and turned in the alarm.

The fire was extinguished before causing much damage.

At the same time lightning blew out the fuses and ran along an electric wire and blew up a lamp bulb in the home of $ Sgt. and Mrs. E. J. Musser, who live next door to the Bourdins.

It's simply a small piece of cotton, radiant heaters have screens or No one knows why the cotton works, some think that flies mistake the cotton for its feared enemy-the moth; another guess is tnat flies take cotton for a spider web, on the screen door. Others think that flies simply don't like the white color.

If you want to experiment with the fly chaser at home, just pin a piece of cotton the size of a full-blown rose to your screen door. The flies are supposed to take one look and buzz by. People who have used this method say the cotton should be replaced by a fresh piece once a month. BUG TROUBLE

Some' Trees Are Still Alive

On this property located on the Lakeshore road off Highway 90 even though a carelessly lit fire destroyed about 1200 seedlings per acre recently. America is in the timber busines to stay. It is the nation's oldest business and the only one that is based on a natural resource that replaces itself. The gap between forest drain and forest growth in the United States is narrowing each year. If man-caused forest fires, all of which are preventable, and losses from insects and disease could be halted, the difference between total wood growth and wood drain would be completely wiped out.

Forest fires cost the people of the United States more than a billion dollars a year, says the American Forest Products Industries of Washington, D. C. Here in Han-Simons parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. cock County, the losses amount to a considerable portion of that grand total. # To Fill Shortages

A breakdown by military occupational specialty of shortages in military personnel is given below.

To fill these shortages the Air Force initially is seeking volunteers from its active reserve components and former Air Foce servicemen.

Officers how possessing critical military occupational specialties may request recall through the nearest reserve unit or by application to headquarters on the nearest numbered Air Force. Recall will be for one year. Reserve officers will be asked to perform their active duty in the grade held prior to separation. This is necessary to avoid disruption to the officer grade structure since the Kaufman. majority of officers now on active duty are reservists. Voluntary retheir reserve grades which in that held at time of separation, would require in fairness a sweepdesirable at this time.

Qualified airmen now in the active reserve may voluntarily request recall for a minimum period of one year by making application through their reserve units. Recall will be in the grade presently held in the active Reserve.

Former airmen who have no reserve status may volunteer for held at the time of last honorable discharge from the Air Force, by applying at the nearest U.S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Take Your Choice

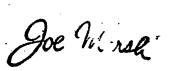

Sitting around last Friday evening, the talk turned to the be t way of getting to sleep when it seems you just can't. "The way a always do," says Sandy John ... "is to breathe deep and make believe I weigh a ton." "Just throw away the pillowit works every time," says Buzz Ellis. When counting sheep came up, right away was the question:

What kind of sheep? From where I sit, you could argue 'til Doomsday and never get complete agreement on a lot of things. Now, take me. I'm all for having a glass of beer or ale on occasion. Your "sociable beverage" may be a "Coke" -or buttermilk or maybe a cup of hot

But enjoying our preferences is a right in this country and cach of us is entitled to his own. The important thing is to respect that right in the true democratic still of understanding! As a it ter of fact, what a tiresome wid world this would be if we all. did have the same likes and dis-

TREES ARE A CROP!

his newspaper grew in a forest

Until it was discovered that paper could be made from wood, there were no great daily papers as we know them today. Today, r ees flow in a continuous stream from forest to pulp and paper mill, to roaring presses, to you. And because trees grow our forests are one great natural resource that can be replaced. Americans can always enjoy their favorite newspapers.

Today, America's woodland owners are learning about "good forest management". On areas called "tree farms", we are growing _like other crops_trees for tomorrow.

Everyone has a share in our forest future, and a share of responsibility, too. It takes all of us to keep our forests safe from fire. Talk -think-act to KREP ASIA

The Real Secret Of SUCCESSFUL MARRIAGE

Advice on how to be happily married was never so freely available as it is today.

Marriage problems are openly discussed in newspaper columns and on the radio. Marriage advice is available from the man next door, who speaks from experience...and from the psychologist, whose views come from study and research. There is no topic. ... from ctiquette to fidelity ... on which advice and counsel are not available.

Yet with all this marriage education, the modern divorce rate continues at an appalling high!

This condition obviously is not due to ignorance of the so-called "facts of life." It cannot be attributed to economic problems, for good times have been repeatedly marked by a high divorce rate. Nor. can it be blamed on the excuse of personal "incompatibility," which so often appears in divorce peti-These and other practical prob-

Initial stress is placed in the field of traffic safety, but the Council plans to embrace all phases of activity where safety emphasis is needed; farm, home industry, recreation and schools.

The need for concerted action is pointed up by the fact that traffic accidents throughout the state of Mississippi claimed the lives of 198 persons during the first five menths of 1950, according to a report made by the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol of the Mississippi Safety Council.

These unnecessary deaths were the result of 1632 reported accidents throughout the State, which resulted also in injury to 948 persons. The figures show a large increase over comparative totals for 1949, when 1199 reported accidents claimed 125 lives and injured 725.

The Highway Patrol's report to the Mississippi Safety Council indicated that at the present rate 500 persons will be killed and over 2200 seriously injured this year in traffic accidents in Mississippi.
